COLLABORATE WITH US

Work with us to build your students' information literacy and research skills.

We are experts in finding, evaluating, and using information. We will work with you to develop assignments, learning objects and experiences, units, and curricular sequences that advance the critical, ethical, and equitable access, use, and creation of information relevant to your discipline.

SUPPORT STUDENT LEARNING

Provide students with the skills they need to succeed.

Build Skills with Online Tutorials & Customized

Content: Help students understand how to navigate the Libraries, start research, and effectively find and evaluate sources. We can help you integrate our existing online learning tools and resources into Canvas or collaborate with you to develop customized content specifically for your students' needs.

Explore our tutorials:

ACCESS THE LIBRARIES IN CANVAS

Integrate library resources and expertise directly into your online learning environment.

Embed Customized Research Guides: We can help you create tailored research guides specific to your courses and assignments (UNL.LIBGUIDES.COM). Embed these guides in Canvas to provide students with direct links to relevant databases, journals, tutorials, and other materials that support their research needs.

Add a Course Librarian: Add a librarian to your Canvas course shell. This allows students to conveniently connect with a librarian for research help throughout the semester and provides direct support for both you and your students.

Integrate Course Materials: Use the Libraries Course Materials tool in Canvas to easily link to Libraries-licensed content (books, chapters, journal articles, streaming video) and other course materials. This streamlines access for students and helps save them money. We can also explore purchasing multilicense e-books for your course. We're happy to create your list for you!

LOWER STUDENT COSTS

Reduce or eliminate course material costs for your students through open, free, or library-licensed materials.

Explore Affordable Course Materials: We can consult with you to discover more affordable or Open Educational Resources (OER) options that meet your teaching and learning goals, contributing to student success by lowering financial barriers.

MANAGE YOUR RESEARCH DATA

Get help with data management plans and GIS tools.

We can help you plan how you will gather, organize, document, access, share, and store your research data to maximize your scholarly impact, comply with funders' requirements, and be ready to apply for grants.

GO.UNL.EDU/RESEARCH-DATA-MGMT

The Libraries provide support for Geographic Information Systems (GIS) through access to specialized software, spatial data resources, and the UNL Geoportal, an ArcGIS server platform for publishing and sharing geospatial data. GIS specialists are available to consult with you on using tools like ArcGIS and StoryMaps, and can help you integrate spatial analysis, mapping, and data visualization into your assignments and research projects.

SHARE RESEARCH DATA

Let us help you share your data.

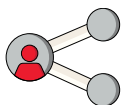

The research data repository, SANDY (Stewarding Nebraska Data), is a service offered to NU researchers—faculty, staff, and students—by University Libraries. SANDY SANDY.UNL.EDU provides researchers with the opportunity to preserve, share, and discover finalized research datasets that can be shared publicly. UNL Libraries curators will work with you to prepare your data for deposit in SANDY or other data repositories.

MAXIMIZE YOUR RESEARCH IMPACT

Explore tools to expand the reach of your research.

We can advise on how best to share your scholarship, including help with the University of Nebraska-Lincoln Digital Commons, open access and article processing charges, funders' requirements, and ORCID to manage your professional identity. Additionally, we can help you explore open publishing for your scholarship in the UNL Digital Commons.

OPEN ACCESS PUBLISHING AGREEMENTS

Discover how to get your publishing fees covered.

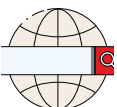

UNL Libraries have agreements with several publishers that cover OA publishing fees at no cost to you. Review our list of current agreements.

PARTNER WITH ARCHIVISTS

Archivists are here to support you in your teaching and research with primary sources. We can help create active learning experiences for your students and assist you with every stage of your special collections research, from discovering archival collections to publishing in nontraditional formats.

GO.UNL.EDU/ARCHIVES-SPEC

FOR RESEARCH

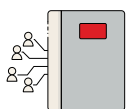

ACCESS PRIMARY SOURCES

Discover archival collections, rare books, and special collections through our finding aids database and the Libraries catalog. Consult with an archivist to learn about our holdings and how to incorporate archival materials into your research.

CREATE DIGITAL RESEARCH PROJECTS

Collaborate with us and use our collections to create digital humanities, oral history, or other digital projects. Learn how to incorporate Archives & Special Collections into your grant applications and project plans.

FOR TEACHING

PARTNER WITH US

We are excited to partner with faculty and instructors from across disciplines to create meaningful and engaging learning experiences. We work with educational partners from the university and beyond to develop instructional sessions that introduce students and groups to the unique resources in our collections and build skills in primary source research and archival literacy.

CREATE AUTHENTIC LEARNING OPPORTUNITIES FOR YOUR STUDENTS

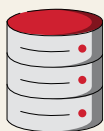

Incorporate our resources into projects that provide students with opportunities to become knowledge creators and share what they have learned through digital exhibits and projects.

OTHER WAYS WE SUPPORT YOU

ACCESS THE INFORMATION YOU NEED

Create your accounts to access materials.

The University Libraries is your research partner and works hard to provide access to the materials you need to be successful. Use our library catalog, access more than 300 specialized research databases, or request materials through interlibrary loan and document delivery services. Log in to your Libraries “My Account” to request delivery of UNL-owned materials to your office, and create your Interlibrary Loan account to request, track, and manage your borrowed materials. Most articles are delivered electronically within 72 hours.

GO.UNL.EDU/LIBRARYLOGIN

RECOMMEND A PURCHASE

Connect with a librarian to recommend materials.

Current affiliates can recommend an item for the Libraries collection. You may recommend books, journals, databases, videos, media, datasets, or other types of materials. Your request will be reviewed, and if we purchase your recommended item, we'll be in touch when the item is available.
